

HUMANITIES 20:20

A new vision for primary schools

We believe the humanities play a key part in a broad and balanced school curriculum.

They have a crucial role in helping children to:

- know more about the world and its people,
- explore the purpose and meaning of their lives,
- build their sense of identity and self-worth and
- develop the values that will help them to become active, inclusive and thoughtful citizens.

Join in our campaign to restore the humanities – History, Geography, RE and Citizenship – to their rightful place in the primary curriculum.
